About Mind Over Learning

Learn to effectively teach struggling learners. At Mind Over Learning, being a specialized instructor is more than just a job. We train and empower our team members to effectively teach students who have not succeeded elsewhere.

Mind Over Learning offers the most powerful teaching methodologies available, giving hope and results to students and parents who have faced insurmountable challenges in education. Students learn critical skills in reading, writing, comprehension, and math that have eluded them.

The Ideal Job

This opportunity is ideal for individuals who are looking for part-time employment (15-35 hours per week) and have a passion for working with kids who struggle academically. We can work around another job if the weekly schedule is consistent.

Mind Over Learning offers a rewarding career opportunity. Instructors who join our team need to be committed to a minimum of 2 years. We offer internal and hands-on training so our instructors experience success with their students. The job is often more than just tutoring. The company has a pathway for growth and advancement in specialization and leadership. Many of our long-term employees are parents or career-changers who found their niche in learning disabilities because of personal life experiences, benefitting from MOL's rewarding work and positive internal culture!

Candidates

Our students require support from specialists - instructors who are teachable, curious, flexible and able to connect with others.

We are always seeking the right personality, the right set of skills, and the right learning attitude, regardless of education and experience. A background in learning disabilities, psychology, sociology or social work is beneficial but not required. And a bachelor of arts (or other 4-year post-secondary education) is preferred. We provide thorough, hands-on training that is not offered anywhere else.

Mind Over Learning is about a positive environment, solving problems, supporting each other, and meeting our student's needs academically and emotionally. We look to hire individuals who are in alignment with these values.

Positions

We are currently hiring and training part-time, long-term, in-person (Kelowna / West Kelowna-based) instructors primarily to teach:

- READING & SPELLING or
- WRITING or
- MATH FOUNDATIONS (Grade 1-5 level)

Instructors can then pursue further training in the following subjects:

- ADVANCED READING & SPELLING
- WRITING AND READING COMPREHENSION
- MATH FOUNDATIONS (Grade 1-5 level)
- MATH CORE CONCEPTS (Grade 6-9 level)

Increases in wages are available as training and internal certifications continue within the center.

Apply

If you would like to make an incredible difference, building a future generation of individuals who experience success in life because YOU gave them the tools to do so, we would love to hear from you.
